ANNEXURE

Extract from the Karnataka Tank Conservation And Development Authority Act, 2014 (Karnataka Act 32 of 2014)

An Act to provide for establishment of a Tank Conservation and Development Authority and other matters connected therewith or incidental thereto;

Whereas, the Apex Court has already ruled that right to water is a part of right to life guaranteed by Article 21 of the Constitution of India.

Whereas, due to rapid urbanization, industrialization and population explosion, water bodies like tanks and ponds are being converted into urban and industrial land use after breaking bund and draining water;

Whereas, in the State there are large number of tanks which are main source of the agriculture, drinking water and rural Industries. These tanks are managed, protected, conserved and rejuvenated by various Government Departments like Minor Irrigation, Rural Development and Panchayat Raj, Forest Department etc.,

Whereas, such destruction of water bodies leads to acute shortage of water and rapid depletion of ground water and thereby affecting availability of water for irrigation, drinking and consumption by live stock, besides affecting aquatic flora and fauna and accordingly there is an urgent need for protection, conservation and rejuvenation of water bodies by a Single Authority.

And now therefore, it is expedient to provide for establishment of a Tank Conservation and Development Authority having necessary powers and functions to achieve the object of protection, conservation and rejuvenation of water bodies, and for other matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.
